DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 22-26 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792) (see PTO-892).

The Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792) shows a transferring apparatus comprising a main frame (4), a fixing means (52) installed in the main frame, and grippers (55, 55) to hold trays.

Re claims 24-26, figure 7 shows biasing means, a spring (11), to correct the tilt angle of the gripped object.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 32 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792) (see PTO-892) in view of Itoh et al. (6,406,246) (see PTO-892).

The Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792) does not show a sensor. However, Itoh et al.

teaches at least one sensor (243), a proximity sensor (Col. 5, lines 43-51) for sensing.

Art Unit: 3652

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to those skilled in the art to provide a sensor on the Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792) as taught by Itoh et al. (6,406,246) to sensor the gripped object.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-13, 15-21 and 27-29 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

6. The arguments on Otah et al. '246 have been persuasive and the claim rejection is withdrawn. However, with respect to the Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792), applicant's arguments are not persuasive.

The Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792)

In response to applicant's argument that "the Japanese Patent (JP 3-178792) does not teach the claim limitations of claim 22" (pages 12 and 13), a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. It is pointed out that the Japanese Patent's device is capable of performing the functional limitations such as holding a first tray and a second tray since the claims broadly recite "a fixing unit" and "a gripper unit".

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
